

A photograph of the band Nemesis performing live on stage. The lead singer, wearing a black and white jacket, is in the center, singing into a microphone with his left hand raised. To his left, a guitarist in a black jacket is partially visible. To his right, another guitarist in a light blue shirt is playing a dark electric guitar. In the background, a drummer is visible behind a drum kit. The stage is lit with green and blue lights, and there are stage lights and equipment visible above the band. The audience's heads are visible in the foreground, some holding up phones to record.
